church must be there to fund, and in the case of the Vatican, control the right wing political parties. Don't forget, with the hundreds of millions of dollars given each year to right wing groups such as the "National Rifle Association" to promote gun ownership and the view that the right to own weapons is a fundamental right, to say nothing of free market think tanks such as the Cato Institute, any mention of a right to vote is effectively snuffed out. I see this sort of thing in the UK, where the Tories, regardless of what they say, will keep our vote effectively in line with the position of the Church. There is more on the church and the right here, here, here, here and here. In addition to the tactics that have been used to perpetuate the idea that women are the "weaker vessel" in terms of birth and maternal issues, a number of the more strident right wing religious groups (like the Roman Catholic Church and Anglicans) have their own "bibles", the so called "biblical commandments" or "commandments". Although there are some fundamental differences between the Bible and the so called "Godly" commandments (do unto others as you would have them do to you), there are many that could be applied to society today: "You shall not covet your neighbour's house. You shall not covet your neighbour's wife, or his house, or his field, or his manservant or his maidservant, or his ox or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbour's." [Deut. 5:21-22] "If a man finds a bird◆
