I have an array of objects. I want to get the unique objects from this array and store them in another array. This is my original array: var array = [{name:"John", age:28},{name:"Mike", age:23},{name:"John", age:35}] How do I get unique objects from the array using jQuery? I want my new array to be: var newArray = [{name:"John", age:28},{name:"Mike", age:23}] A: Using ES6: let unique = array.filter(function(e) { return array.indexOf(e) == -1; }); or the more efficient for loop: let newArray = []; for(let i = 0, len = array.length; i Brazilian midfielder Douglas Luiz has joined French side Caen on a season-long loan. The 27-year-old joined Flamengo in 2016 after spending six years with Benfica, with whom he won the Europa League, two Portuguese leagues, and one Portuguese Cup. He made 34 appearances for Flamengo, scoring two goals, including one in the 2017 Copa Libertadores final win against River Plate. Douglas is a defensive midfielder and is known for his passing ability. He was a regular starter in the defensive line last season. He joins a Caen side that finished fifth last year in Ligue 1.
